VILLAGE MANAGER'S REPORT (914) 944-2782

Bitter temperatures, wind, snow, and ice combine to create such seasonal health hazards as strained backs, broken bones, sprains, and colds. Extreme cold also increases your risk for hypothermia.

TIPS FOR STAYING WARM WHEN IT'S COLD

The following tips will help you prevent hypothermia:

- Dress in layers, but don't overdress.
- Wear a hat, waterproof, insulated boots, and mittens instead of gloves.
- Remove wet clothes immediately.
- Don't stand or sit too long in one place.
- Sit on a blanket or cushion, not on cold pavement or concrete.
- Drink plenty of fluids, but avoid caffeinated and alcoholic beverages.
- Avoid overexertion. If you sweat, remove outer layers of clothing or open your coat.
- Ask your doctor if any of your medications can increase the risk of hypothermia
